Baby Massage

Did you know..
Baby massage can help
with symptoms of colic
and constipation?

Did you know..
Baby Massage can support bonding and communication with your baby?

Massage can help parents:

- Feel more confident about handling their baby
- Understand the signs and signals their baby uses, so they know what they are 'saying' to them
- Find time to play with their baby
- Relax whilst having fun with their baby
- Enhance the feeling of closeness with their baby, so that their relationship may strengthen and grow

Most importantly, baby massage gives parents the opportunity to spend special time with their baby through positive touch, so that they have time for special hugs and holds, sing nursery rhymes, learn about and play with their baby

Culm Valley Children's Centre delivers Baby massage sessions over five weeks where parents are shown different massage routines each week which covers the whole body.

Babies from eight weeks up to the age of nine months old can complete the course.

The courses are a great way to meet new people!

Mums and Dads welcome.

Massage oil is provided for parents to take home as well as hand outs each week with the massage routines and songs on them.

All infant massage teachers at the centre are qualified instructors certified by the International Association of Infant Massage.

Colic

Baby massage can help!

It can be a most upsetting experience for a parent who's child is suffering from colic. It often last for many hours and usually starts around the same time each day.

The condition is harmless although it can be very distressing for the baby to experience and the parents to observe. Massage and a few simple techniques can alleviate colic, but parents are advised to seek medical advice to check that there are no underlying medical problems.

Massage:

A Positive Life Experience

Massage is an excellent way of bringing new and positive experiences into your baby's life, as it offers the opportunity for positive touch and early play, especially when accompanied with lots of talking, music and singing of nursery rhymes.
